Website Cookie Policy

Like most modern websites, our website – www.trueandfaircampaign.com - uses cookies. Cookies are small text files stored on your computer or mobile device by your browser.

Cookies can be used to store certain preferences on a website or track if you have visited that site before. More information on cookies and their use can be found at https://ico.org.uk/forthe-public/online/cookies/

Our cookies do not store personal information such as your name, address, phone number or email. They also cannot read or search your computer, smartphone or web-enabled device to obtain information about you, or read any material kept on your hard drive.

We use the following cookies:

| Name | Purpose | Expiry |
|---|---|---|
| _ga_gat_UA-17074461-6_gid | Used to measure information about how visitors use our site. This includes identifying each unique user and details of each page visited. _gat is used to limit the collection of analytics data on high traffic sites. Company: Google Analytics | 2 years1 minute1 day |

Please note that third parties including, for example, advertising networks and providers of external services such as web traffic analysis services, may also use cookies on this site.

These are very commonly found on many websites and we have no control over them. They are likely to be analytical/performance cookies or targeting cookies (for example, Google's advertising services as above).

Some of the partners that may set cookies when you visit our site are:

| | |
|---|---|
| Bing | This domain is Microsoft's search engine. |
| Google | In addition to the targeting/advertising cookies above, Google may set other cookies on this site, for example in connection with their Google+ social networking application which we link to from our site. |

• You can alter how cookies are stored on your computer or mobile device via your web browser settings.

• You can set your browser to block or disable cookies, but doing so may impact the quality of your browsing experience and you may not be able to take full advantage of the sites.
